I am very supportive of the government's decision to settle the Microsoft legislation. I, like many of my peers, believe this case was ill advised from the start. The government needs to be more in tune with the changing environment of the technology sector of our economy. By settling the DOJ and the US Government send a powerful message to investors, that the DOJ and the US Government support the formation of capital, and the desire to rule a marketplace.

This act along with others will help to encourage investors to again invest in capital markets and take risks.

Bravo!
